Bristol Old Vic Theatre School

A very happy 70th birthday to the Bristol Old Vic Theatre Club. You've been an integral part of the life of the Theatre School from the very beginning, for which we are truly grateful. You support the students with such enthusiasm - by coming to the shows, the Directors' Previews, the Welcome parties you host for the International students, the end of year party for the Graduating students, the annual Prize Giving, and above all for the years of being part of our lives.

Thank you - here's to the next 70 years.

Bristol Old Vic wishes the Bristol Old Vic Theatre Club a very Happy 70th Anniversary

Emma Stenning and Tom Morris

The Theatre Club are our guardian angels; passionate friends and supporters who care for the long term future of the theatre – the building, the archives and perhaps most important of all, the people who work in it.

Their institutional memory is such a wonderful thing. We've loved hearing members reminisce about their favourite shows of years gone by just as much as we love seeing them come en masse to support the Young Company, to see the latest Ferment show, or to sit in the auditorium to watch our new production. They are intrepid theatre goers, committed community builders and a brilliant bond between the theatre and the school. In a year of Big Birthdays, this one is ever so special to Bristol Old Vic.

Happy Birthday to the Theatre Club! May you have many happy returns.

Development Team

Wishing you many happy returns on your 70th birthday! It's been great to work alongside the Bristol Old Vic Theatre Club over so many years, sharing experiences for our donors alike. We look forward to a continuing fruitful relationship!

Marketing Team

Happy 70th birthday Bristol Old Vic Theatre Club! You are the passionate heart of our dedicated theatre-going audience and generous supporters of everything we do. And we mean everything. From watching our latest shows to hosting exciting and engaging In Conversations to starring as the ominous, looming bodies in The Crucible show image photoshoot – you are always eager to embrace our theatre. Thank you for the last 70 years, we wish you many, many more.

Outreach Team

Congratulations Theatre Club on reaching 70! And thank you for all the support of Young Company and Outreach work over the years.

The Production Department and Operations Department

We have some of the longest serving members of staff in the organisation and therefore have some people within whose relationships with the Theatre Club has been woven together over many decades. The Theatre Club is a huge support to the theatre and this is felt in all corners. All of us here in the Production Department and Operations Department wish the Club a very, very Happy 70th Birthday and here's to the next 250 years together!

Literary Team

Members of the Theatre Club are tremendously encouraging to new writing initiatives, whether through Young Company productions, New Plays commissioned for the Studio, or bold new ideas for the Theatre Royal stage. The Theatre Club's presence around the building means that they get to know emerging talent, see it find its feet, and sometimes fly the nest to new opportunities further afield. Having 'insiders' around - who aren't directly involved in a production task - increases the sense of in-house support and warmth during the often fragile process of making new work. Thank you, and happy 70th Anniversary!
